

I Don't Have You ©Ashley McMillen

The sun came up today.
The birds sing, flowers out my window are bright yellow.
I'll go to work, save a life or two
All the time I'll think of you.

I have everything a girl would ever want, would ever need.
I have everything in this life to make me happy.
But I don't have you.
I don't have you.

Not a cloud in the sky today.
The neighbors wave and smile as they pass by, but here comes the night.
I'll carry on with my ways,
Talk with friends and keep myself busy.

CHORUS

I missed my chance, I really messed up.
The look in your eyes engraved in my soul.
Too many scars to let you in
And you say, "timing is everything."
That's why I don't have you.
I don't have you.

Tomorrow will be here soon
A fresh start, I'll keep myself distracted, this will pass.
It wouldn't have worked, I say
My excuse to help heal this pain.

CHORUS

The sun came up today.
The birds sing, flowers out my window are bright yellow.